step one: Request a quote for pricing.

step two: After you've reviewed your quote and made the first payment, the next step is helping me understand what style/type of design you're looking for. Anything you can provide me with, whether it's a link to a website or a jpg of something you found online, will help give me an idea of your taste. Maybe you don't have anything particular in mind, but you know that you want to incorporate a daisy into the design, that works too. Besides giving me an idea of your style, I'll also need to know what colors you'd prefer I use.

step three: Based on what you've provided me, I will begin to work on the design. Once I have something for you to look at, I'll email you a pdf proof. We'll then work through any changes that you might have.

step four: Once we've hammered out the design, I will provide you with a printed proof of each piece you've ordered. (I will have these mailed to you.) I wait to print all the materials until you've reviewed the printed pieces and given me your approval.

step five: After you've given me your final blessing, I give the printer the go ahead. Turnaround time is typically less than 2 weeks to have the materials printed and shipped to you. Final payment will be due within one week of delivery.
